

H. Saldjiev

The Turkish Minority in Yugoslavia after the Second World War

(Summary)

The position of the Turkish minority in Yugoslavia during the first decade after the end of the Second World War is examined in the article, The principal questions considered are: 1. The problem about establishing the exact size of the Turkish population in Yugoslavia during the period under review. 2. The socio-economic and cultural position of the Turkish minority 3. The policy of the Yugoslav Communist Party towards the Turkish population. 4. The emigration question and its repercussions.