ON THE CREATION AND THE SPECIFIC CHARACTER OF THE TÄRNOVO CONSTITUTION: MARIN DRINOV AND HIS CONCEPTIONS ON THE BASIC BULGARIAN LAW

(Summary)

Professor Marin Drinov doesn't participate directly in the activity of the Constituent Assembly on the elaboration of the First Bulgarian Constitution (February-April 1879). But he has his own position on the construction of the Bulgarian state, on the state system and government; on the rights and obligations of the deputies, ministers, head of state; on the structure of the National Assembly. His opinion about the Constitution was sent to the Russian emperor's commissioner Alexander Dondukov-Korsakov in December 1878. The conception of Drinov doesn't concern the Assembly convened in Tärnovo. Professor Drinov as soon as is associated with forming of a team, which translated from Russia Organic Regulations, transformed in the basic foundation of the Bulgarian the proposed Constitution.
